Global Markets Summary

August 2017

DIMEO SCHNEIDER
& ASSOCIATES, L.L.C.

Asset Class Returns

Fixed Income

- Fixed income markets globally were positive for the month with gains being evenly distributed. High yield was the only laggard as energy credits were affected by Hurricane Harvey.
- Year-to-date, international markets continued to outpace domestic. U.S. TIPS had a noteworthy month as inflation expectations held steady.
- The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield fell 18 bps during the month to end at 2.12%.

Equities

- U.S. large cap equities broadly outperformed their mid and small cap counterparts. Growth equities fared better than value across all market caps.
- International equities, both developed and emerging, saw strong performance. Emerging markets are up over 28% year to date in 2017.
- Domestically, oil and gas were a drag on returns while technology and healthcare saw the biggest increases.

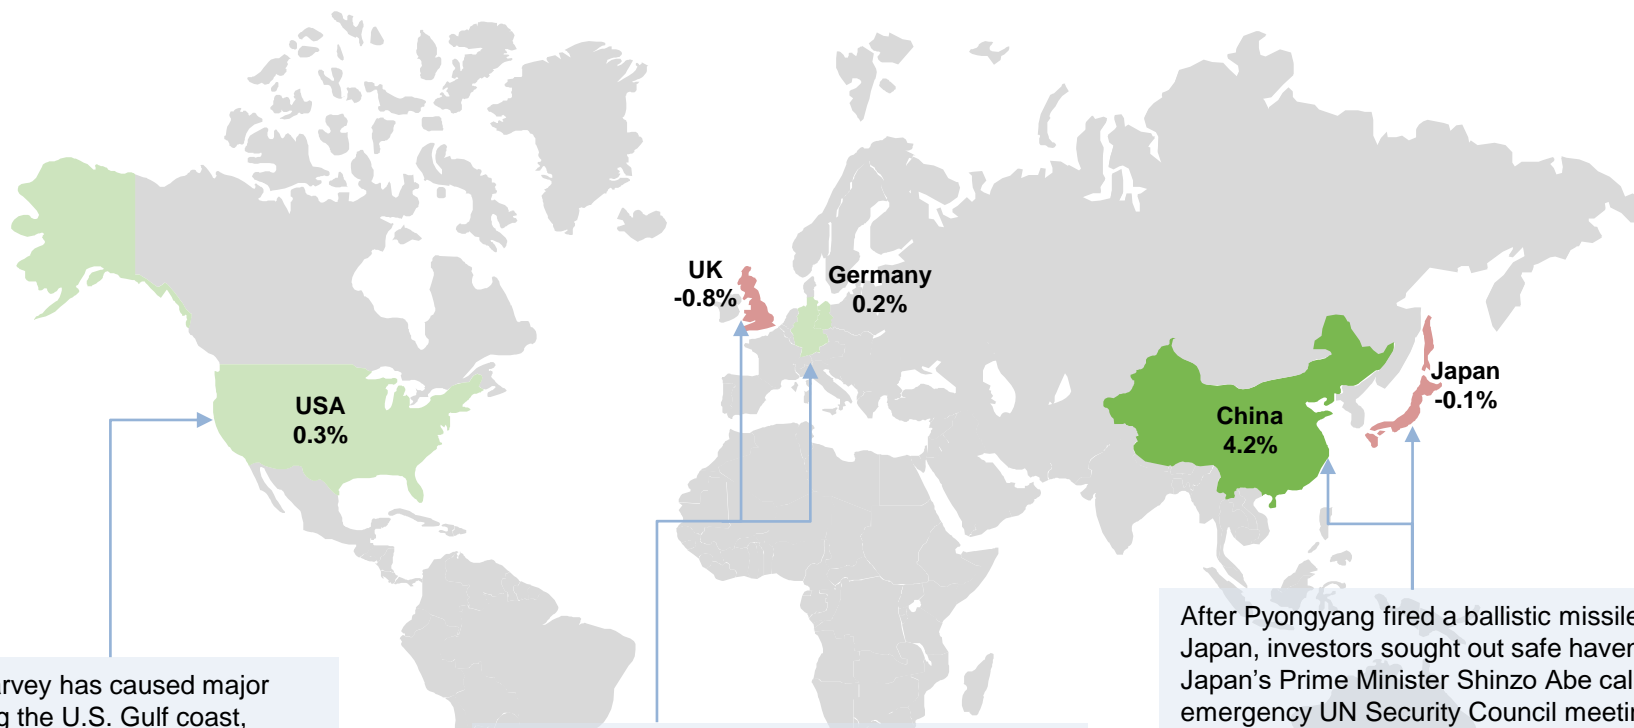

Real Assets

- Hurricane Harvey's disruption in the Gulf of Mexico negatively impacted MLP performance. The group saw a noticeable pullback as a result of refineries temporarily suspending operations.
- International and Domestic REITs were both flat during an uneventful month.
- Commodities ended marginally higher as refinery suspensions led to a mild supply shock in natural gas and unleaded gasoline. Metals were also positive while agriculture fell.

Global Highlights

August 2017

Hurricane Harvey has caused major flooding along the U.S. Gulf coast, leading to the shut down of numerous refineries as well as some crude production. The region is home to one-quarter of U.S. crude oil refining capacity. Harvey initially caused oil prices to spike on supply concerns, but excess demand has thus far been met with additional imports.

Eurozone grows twice as fast as the UK during the second quarter after GDP rises by 0.6% in the euro area.

In September, German voters will hit the polls to choose the makeup of their main legislative body, the Bundestag, which will in turn choose the next chancellor. The vote, like many other European elections is expected to reflect the country's feelings toward protectionism.

After Pyongyang fired a ballistic missile over Japan, investors sought out safe haven assets. Japan's Prime Minister Shinzo Abe called for an emergency UN Security Council meeting after stating the severity of the event as a threat to Japan.

China's official manufacturing PMI came in above expectations; China's manufacturing sector has seen growth in part due to infrastructure spending and a recovery in exports despite the story of slowing growth and high debt levels.

Stated returns reflect each country's MSCI Gross Country Index in U.S. Dollars
